Steve Browning (b. 1955)

Steve Browning is a painter with a developed expertise working 'en Plein air'. He made the transition from an award-winning Art Director to a full-time artist in 2002, where he utilises his career-refined command of composition and palette to create award-winning plein air paintings. Browning works in oil and acrylic, creating landscape scenes which invite nostalgia through their snapshot quality. By creating his artwork on-site and often in only a few hours, he captures the life and spontaneity of local scenery in a way that is unique to the plein air method.
