Mark P. Cullen (b. 1960)

Mark P. Cullen is an established abstract painter who began painting full-time in 2003. Working from thoughts and memories he carves out the figures in his art using signature vibrancy and textural play. He names the Irish coastline as the source of his inspiration. Imbued with childhood nostalgia, he depicts these spaces through an artistic lens, reimagining their three-dimensionality. From this knowledge, Cullen's striking palette and blocking techniques emerge as a manifestation of his desire to encapsulate the essence of memories.
