Stephen Cullen (b. 1959)

Stephen Cullen is an Irish artist who has established himself critically as a colourist. Depicting Irish landscapes and scenery, his technical ability enables his style to prevail in both abstract and representative work. Cullen has worked as a full-time painter since 1982 and paints in oil on canvas to carve out Irish landscapes and seascapes, vivifying these scenes with the energy and life force of the natural world. His combination of dynamic bold palettes and nostalgic local imagery has garnered an international following and constant demand for commission work.
