David Hedderman

David Hedderman is an Irish artist and musician currently based in Berlin, Germany. His figurative artwork focuses on the human form; Hedderman overlays human poses to create a complex dialogue between the figures in his work and their movement over time. As such, his use of layering and the overlapping of linework creates a non-linear narrative which contemplates the human experience over time. Composition and the use of space play a significant role in developing the stylistic introspective quality to his artwork.
