Nicky Kruseman

Nicky Kruseman is a mixed media painter, having studied in Paris and worked in New York she is currently based in Co. Wicklow. Her work tackles a broad scope of subjects with distinctive flair, from moody landscapes to introspective still life art. The diverse range in her artwork results from her fascination with the familiar. Everyday still life subjects and the coastal scenery by her house inspire her to capture her experiences in visual form. Her collections are unified by their ability to manifest the personal symbolism of the scenery and items which surround us.
